Swadesh Progoti Parishad (SPP) is a non-profit, non-partisan, non-governmental organization, registered under the Social Welfare Department of Bangladesh. It was established in 1986, with some specific aims and objectives, to face the challenges of the 21st century.

Aims:

- Sustainable socioeconomic development.

Objectives:

SPP believes that education is the back bone of a nation and education is necessary for sustainable socioeconomic development in Bangladesh. From the very beginning, SPP concentrates on education and it wishes to reach its aims through various educational programs. SPP has some written aims and objectives and unwritten commitment and dedication to its aim.

- Introduce formal and non-formal, child and adult education;
- Improve the quality of education;
- Continuing education i.e. adult education;
- Create social awareness;
- Promote democracy

Geographical Program Area:

SPP works in Dhaka, Faridpur, Rajbari, Shariatpur, and Gopalganj Districts.

Specific Beneficiaries/Target People:

The target populations of our programs are the poor, oppressed, and homeless and landless slum dwellers of urban and rural areas of Bangladesh. We try hard to reach the poorest of the poor. Special attention is paid to the sex workers living in the brothels.

Network / Collaboration:

SPP has regular contact with other local and national NGOs and forums. It has implemented several projects collaborating with other NGOs.
